Averages are market weighted. Price/Book Ratio is the price of a security divided by the book value per share of the security. Price/Earnings Ratio is the price of a security divided by the last twelve months earnings per share of the security. Market Capitalization of an individual, publicly traded company is calculated by multiplying the company's stock price by the total number of its shares outstanding. 30-Day SEC Yield is a standard calculation developed by the Securities and Exchange Commission that allows for fairer comparisons among funds. It is based on the most recent 30-day period and reflects the investment income earned after deducting a fund's expenses for the period.

An investment in the Fund may be subject to risks which include, among others, international political and economic developments, inflation, limits on exploration, price fluctuations, technological advances and/or obsolescence, environmental damage claims, import controls, depletion of resources, and labor relations, all of which may adversely affect the Fund. Foreign investments are subject to risks, which include changes in economic and political conditions, foreign currency fluctuations, changes in foreign regulations, and changes in currency exchange rates which may negatively impact the Fund's return. Small- and medium-capitalization companies may be subject to elevated risks.
