

Where Biotech Innovation Drives Growth

BBH® | VanEck Biotech ETF

Biotechnology is Redefining Healthcare

Biotechnology is driving a new era of medicine focused on precision, prevention, and disease modification. Advances in genomics, gene editing, and biologics are enabling more targeted treatments and improved patient outcomes as therapies move from research to commercialization. As of 2025, nearly 50 cell and gene therapies have received FDA approval, with forecasts projecting more than 200 approvals by 2030, underscoring the rapid pace of progress.

Biotech Platforms Support Long-Term Value Creation

Biotechnology platforms support long-term value creation by enabling repeatable innovation across multiple therapies. Advances in genomics, gene editing, and biologics are improving R&D efficiency and accelerating the path from discovery to commercialization, helping build durable pipelines beyond individual drug launches.

Medicine 2.0 vs. 3.0 | 2.0 Will Keep You Alive, 3.0 Will Let You Live

Biotechnology is enabling a shift from reactive, disease-focused care toward personalized and proactive medicine that targets the underlying biology of disease.

The "Net Asset Value" (NAV) of a Fund is determined at the close of each business day, and represents the dollar value of one share of the fund. It is calculated by taking the total assets of the fund, subtracting total liabilities, and dividing by the total number of shares outstanding. The NAV is not necessarily the same as the ETF's intraday trading value. Investors should not expect to buy or sell shares at NAV. Index returns assume reinvestment of all income and do not reflect any management fees or brokerage expenses associated with fund returns. Returns for actual fund investors may differ from what is shown because of differences in timing, the amount invested and fees and expenses. You cannot invest directly in an index.
